How are teachers using Schoology?

The screenshot shows a discussion thread on Schoology. At the top, a comment from Ace VanWanseele asks about "manor vs. manner?" and says "Your thinking is almost...". Below it, Maddie C replies "Yes, that makes sense!". The main post is by Daniel S, who writes: "Gatsby hosts a party every friday because he has the money and wants to give people a smile. There was probably some sort of traumatic experience in his life that makes him want to put a smile on faces." Below this, Jennifer T replies: "Your insight and reading between the lines is lovely. I like how you connect it to his past." Then Ace VanWanseele asks: "Do you have proof from the book?". Finally, Daniel S replies: "During Gatsbys party people were speculating 'Mr. Mumbles bent foward and listened eagerly. I dont think it's so much that, Its more like he was a German Spy during the war.' (Fitzgerald 44)... or 'Somebody told me he killed a man once'(Fitzgerald)".

- More voice/participation.
